

I have never failed to succeed!

I have never failed to succeed,
Much as I have encountered,
Coming my way,
Challenging my balance,
And I am just a common man,
Like you.

You may have called today,
The absolute worst day,
In my whole entire life.
Whatever could go wrong,
Went wrong.
And whatever could disappoint me,
Happened.

It was although a conspiracy,
Has been tied around me.
I stumbled,
Where I wanted to pass,
My dreams,
Had been smashed by the reality.

You would think I have gone absurd,
Wearing a bright grin,
On a day going headfirst.

Perhaps I should have been washed,
With a bitter taste of lemon.
I should have wrapped my soul,
With the pity of my heart.

But I have never failed to succeed,
And I will not make it a first.
I have always triumphed,
To reach my destiny.

I know it sounds weird,
On a day like today,
But frankly,
I cannot see any failure,
In my day.

I did not fail to succeed.

Rather,

I have succeeded to fail.

I have accomplished,
In not reaching my goals.
I have reached a milestone,
To master a day of absolute greyness,
To survive yet,
And exercise my deepest strength,
Of perseverance.

It may not be an accomplishment,
Calling for a round of applause.
Yet still it is something,
Stronger than starred banners.
Because it is the internal me,
That reached,
Success
